© IN AND AROUND COVENT GARDEN COVER: A TRAY OF CAKES FROM MORE COLOURS THAN THE RAINBOW, PROUDLY DISPLAYED OUTSIDE CANDY CAKES. PHOTOGRAPH BY NIMI CHURCH

COVER STORY : Let them eat cake

These cakes look like they should be in Wonderland with messages saying 'Eat Me' but they are far too good for Alice. Based on Monmouth Street, Candy Cakes has quickly become a favourite with sweet-toothed Londoners. Things are not done by halves here: the various muffins are smothered with vivid icing and each is garnished with something exciting from the sweetshop. Once bitten, these cakes will be gone within seconds, they might not make you big and strong but they are surely great fun.
